'Tis the Season

by Carol Calix

It is that time of year when we are glued to the weather reports to see the latest on possible tropical activity. It has been over five years since the big K devastated our communities. But hurricanes aren't the only source of disaster that would require an emergency plan. We have hundreds of miles of train tracks crisscrossing our city streets and on any given day there are hazardous materials being moved about the parishes. We have oil refineries that light up our night skies and ships moving vast amounts of materials that could create a hazard on the river and in the many waterways that feed into the river, lake and gulf.

Do you have a plan? Do you know who to contact in your parish if you need assistance evacuating? Unfortunately there is not one system that all three of the parishes in our region use. We hope to be able to give you as much information in this issue to help you contact the right authorities BEFORE you are in need of their services. The best thing that everyone can do, whether they have a disability or not, is to BE PREPARED.

The following are the emergency preparedness plans and contact information for the parishes of Orleans, Plaquemines and St. Bernard.

Orleans: If you or a family member have special needs - leave before a mandatory evacuation (very good advise, you DO NOT want to get caught in contraflow)

- When a hurricane threatens, make special plans for babies, the elderly, and persons with special needs.
- It will take much longer to travel during a mandatory evacuation. Make travel easier on them by leaving early.

- If you are traveling with babies, the elderly or family members with special health care needs remember the special supplies and equipment they will need for several days.
- If you have any special health care needs, and you can travel on your own, it's a good idea to leave ahead of the crowd. If you depend on special medical equipment, you may also want to leave before a mandatory evaluation is ordered.
- Make sure you've got special medical supplies and equipment in your emergency preparedness kit.
- For more information, contact the New Orleans Public Information center by dialing 3-1-1 or 1-877-286-6431. For TTY service dial 1-800-981-NOLA (6652).
- For more information go to <http://www.nola.gov/GOVERNMENT/Emergency-Preparedness/>
- The City Assisted Evacuation Plan is for Orleans Parish residents only.

Please note that all New Orleans residents are expected to make their own plans to self-evacuate their families and their pets. It is important that everyone be responsible for their own safety and make a plan that includes where to go, who to contact, what to bring, and how to get there. Only those citizens meeting one or more of the following categories are eligible for help from the city:

- ⇒ Those who are homeless;
- ⇒ Those who have no transportation or fuel to get out;
- ⇒ Those whose medical needs prevent them from evacuating on their own;
- ⇒ Those whose transportation mode is too small to accommodate the entire family, including pets.
- ⇒ The City of New Orleans is asking residents who still need evacuation help to update their information for planning purposes. This is not a guarantee of help. You can register at the website listed above.

Plaquemines: The Plaquemines Parish Government Critical Transportation Needs Evacuation Plan is designed for individuals who do not have transportation to evacuate when recommended by Emergency Management Planners for a tropical event. Any Plaquemines Parish resident needing transportation assistance during an evacuation is eligible to participate in its Critical Transportation Needs program. Pre-registration for transportation assistance is available and recommended. To pre-register call 504-274-2470 and leave your name, address, quantity of pets, if any (only cats and dogs), and your contact information for follow-up. IF YOU REQUIRE SPECIAL TRANSPORTATION (NOT ABLE TO RIDE A SCHOOL BUS) YOU MUST PRE-REGISTER AT THE NUMBER LISTED ABOVE.

St. Bernard: St. Bernard now has a First Call system to notify residents of an emergency. You can sign up for this service at <https://alertregistration.com/StBernardParish/>. To register for special transportation needs contact Dawn Penney, Critical Transportation Needs Specialist, (504) 278-4322, (504) 442-3120 (cell), dpenney@sbspq.net (email). It is necessary to re-register every year for special transportation needs.

Transportation is available to anyone in St. Bernard that does not have a way to evacuate. There are six pick up points in the parish. For more information go to http://sbspq.net/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=114&Itemid=27 or call 504-278-4268.

And last but not least, if you are the parent of an individual with a disability, do you have a Special Needs Trust in place? This is one of those things that we either don't have because we don't understand the importance, or we just haven't gotten around to getting it done. Please see page 3 for information of an upcoming workshop that is of great importance to your loved one with a disability. It is a critical piece to them being able to live in the community and not lose their benefits after you are gone.

LEGAL PLANNING FOR LOVED ONES WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

This presentation will include information concerning the importance of Medicaid planning through use of wills and special needs trusts, information regarding steps to take to make sure parents have the legal ability to act on behalf of family members with disabilities, and related topics.

Will my brother live with me or on his own? Or will I have to put him in a home?

Will I have what I need to help care for my sister when we grow up?

What if something happens to me unexpectedly? Who will become my child's guardian?

Have we done what we need to do to protect our child's inheritance?

How can I be assured that our wishes are carried out after we are gone?

Steven M. Jankower has spent years dealing with the complex legal issues faced by families that have relatives that are elderly, have disabilities or other special needs. As the father of a child with special needs, Steven has first hand knowledge of the challenges these individuals and their families face every day. He has the experience and confidence to help families effectively deal with these difficult legal problems.

Students and Assistive Technology

The Region 1 Assistive Technology Center is part of the Louisiana Assistive Technology Initiative (LATI) that supports local education agencies and families in developing and implementing assistive technology services for students with disabilities. The parishes in the Region 1 area include Orleans, Plaquemines, Jefferson, St. Bernard, and St. Charles. The center supports districts in all of these parishes including the Recovery School district and local area charter schools. There are eight regional assistive technology centers in the state with two facilitators working in each center. The Region 1 facilitators work year-round to provide trainings, consultations, software demonstrations, on-site workshops, and technical assistance on assistive technology to teachers, therapists, administrators, paraprofessionals and parents. The purpose of the AT center is to help students with disabilities access the curriculum and school programs and increase the capacity of school districts in providing assistive technology services.

The Region 1 AT Center conducts monthly workshops at the center and provides on-going trainings at school and community sites. Each year the LATI centers conduct a statewide institute on Assistive Technology focusing on various AT solutions for the classroom, differentiating tasks, Accessible Instructional Materials (AIM), new technology, software, communication and AT tools for students with special needs. This year our summer institute took place in Lake Charles, LA at the Region 5 Center from June 21-23, 2011.

The Region 1 center publishes a list of workshops conducted at the center for the upcoming school year, sends a monthly newsletter to contacts in the region 1 area and maintains a website at www.region1at.com. The Region 1 center holds an annual Open House after Labor Day and sponsors a national speaker at the beginning of each school year to address a current assistive technology topic. The Region 1 Assistive Technology Center is located behind the Belle Chasse High School in Plaquemines parish. All are welcome to come by the center to explore the various AT tools or devices from our lending library or find answers to questions on Assistive Technology.

The Region 1 AT Center address is 8342 Hwy. 23, Belle Chasse, LA 70037. The phone number is 504-595-6071. The AT Center facilitators are Renee Spratt, rspratt@ppsb.org and Katherine Shea, kshea@ppsb.org.

iPad and iPad2 at FHF of SELA

We are pleased to announce the addition of the iPad and iPad2 to our library! Families wishing to purchase an IPAD for themselves or family members can test out the many features and applications the IPADS have to offer, such as the Tap to Talk, a communication tool used for those with limited verbal skills, e-books of your favorite stories or music apps for your budding musicians. Teachers can view the many educational programs designed for their student's individual learning needs. The IPADS are also available for families to research disability related issues.

What's New in the Affordable Care Act?

From the Louisiana Parent to Parent Health Information Center

A statewide program of Bayou Land Families Helping Families

The Affordable Care Act (the “ACA”) has provided many new innovations in health care financing that allow for coverage of more individuals, particularly those with disabilities and youth. These innovations have already allowed more people to access the care they need, including individuals with disabilities.

In 2010, 45% of young adults, people from ages 19-29, couldn't afford their health care and either didn't fill a prescription, go to the doctor when sick, didn't go to treatment sessions, tests or follow-up visits due to the cost and lack of insurance. The Affordable Care Act has already begun to make a difference for this age group. Information from five national insurance carriers across the country have indicated over 600,000 young people up to age 26 now have insurance coverage under a parent's health plan since this ACA provision became effective.

The Affordable Care Act also prohibits plans from imposing life-time dollar limits on most benefits you receive now and will restrict and phase out those annual dollar limits by 2014. And, no longer will insurance companies be able to deny a child under 19 with a pre-existing condition and they cannot charge that family a higher premium either.

The Pre-Existing Condition Insurance Program under the ACA will provide coverage for Americans who have been uninsured for six months due to a pre-existing condition. If you cannot get insurance due to a pre-existing condition, these plans may be the answer for you. They cover primary and specialty and hospital care, and prescription drugs. Your premium is not higher just because you have a pre-existing condition. Eligibility is also NOT based on income. There is also no waiting period before benefits kick in. Once you are deemed eligible, you have benefits from the date of eligibility. The monthly premiums for the standard plan in Louisiana range from $171 to $546, depending on age and there is a variety of plan options to choose from. (Learn more at www.pcip.gov.)

States have now been given the option under the ACA to expand their Medicaid programs for many Americans, including people with disabilities. Those programs will be expanded nationwide by 2014. Health Insurance Exchanges are also being established to provide families with the same private insurance choices our members of Congress enjoy through easy to use, accessible information on each of the Exchange options.

The ACA extends the Money Follows the Person Program through 2016 with a continuation in participating states and an extension into new states seeking to rebalance their long-term care systems. The ACA will improve Medicaid Home and Community-Based Services options and create the Community First Choice Program (effective October 1, 2011). This program gives states a 6% enhanced match so that they can offer community-based services and supports alongside nursing home and institutional services for eligible people with disabilities. Community First Choice will require states to make such services and supports available under a “person-centered” plan of care to assist them in accomplishing activities of daily living and health-related tasks.

Effective 2011, $3 billion in incentives in the form of enhanced Medicaid matches will be available to states that now fund less than 50% of long-term services in home and community-based settings if they achieve targets set for increasing these services by October 2015.

The ACA also provides for investment in innovations in preventative care and improves access to medical diagnostic equipment so people with disabilities can receive routine preventative care by establishing exam equipment accessibility standards set by the Food and Drug Administration and the Access Board. Other ACA innovation funding includes funding for medical homes and care coordination demonstrations in Medicare and Medicaid to prevent disabilities from occurring or progressing.

Chance to Advocate:

The Commonwealth Fund reported that the US Department of Health and Human Services will seek your input this fall on essential benefits that plans in the new health insurance exchanges will have to cover. The plans are slated to begin in 2014. Watch your newsletters and F2FHIC information blasts for more information on this opportunity.

Protections for Student Health Plan Enrollees

Proposed regulations from the US Department of Health and Human Services were issued regarding student health plans offered by colleges and universities. They propose to classify these plans as individual market plans so that student enrollees will have most of the same consumer protections in the Affordable Care Act. There will be some flexibility however so that the plans can continue to provide coverage to students. For more on this, you can visit <http://www.commonwealthfund.org/Content/Blog/2011/Feb/New-Protections-for-Students.aspx>.

Individualizing Transition Portfolios

What is a transition portfolio? If your child is 14 or over, a transition portfolio will help both the student and the teacher as they plan for life after high school.

This presentation will describe the benefits of individualizing transition portfolios and provide examples of important pages that should be included. Following the presentation, materials will be provided to help you make one for your child. Bring a photo of your child to be included in the portfolio.

The Arc of Greater New Orleans took on a challenge last year and all of their efforts are about to come to fruition. The Chalmette Community Center is slated to open its doors this month. The Prince of Peace rectory has been turned into a center that you must see to appreciate. Soon there will be adults with developmental disabilities gracing its halls. There are plans for a day habilitation program, a vegetable garden, work crews and much, much more. You can help the Arc achieve a high level of success by supporting their upcoming fundraiser and silent auction. And you will notice that our own board member, Polly Campbell, has had a lot to do with this dream come true.
